

Life Science Definition Challenge

Words are extremely important in the field of science. The words help to explain a problem, an area on a body, or a study of a particular subject within the field of science.

How many words can you match correctly? Print this page out and see!

-ology = the study of a subject

-itis = inflammation of an area

Column A

1. Biology
2. Arthritis
3. Toxicology
4. Conjunctivitis
5. Physiology
6. Laryngitis
7. Oncology
8. Bronchitis
9. Etiology
10. Appendicitis
11. Teratology
12. Dermatitis
13. Hematology
14. Enteritis
15. Biochemistry
16. Ethology
17. Anatomy

Column B-Definition

- a. study of abnormal fetal development
- b. inflammation of joints
- c. study of cancer
- d. inflammation of tissue surrounding the eye
- e. study of animal behavior
- f. inflammation of appendix
- g. inflammation of intestines
- h. study of chemical reactions within a living organism
- i. inflammation of passageways to the lungs
- j. study of components of blood
- k. study of poisons and harmful effects on living organisms
- l. study of living organisms
- m. study of the cause of a disease
- n. inflammation of voice box (larynx)
- o. Study of function of parts and systems of a living organism
- p. study of structure of living organism
- q. inflammation of skin

Developed by:

February 2002

Vicki Koch B.S, RLATG (MNYB-AALAS)

Answers: 1-1, 2-b, 3-k, 4-d, 5-o, 6-n, 7-c, 8-l, 9-m, 10-f,
11-a, 12-q, 13-j, 14-g, 15-h, 16-e, 17-p